For Adults

Chris Tebbetts hosts Good Beginnings (a writing workshop)

November 1: 6:30pm-7:30pm

This interactive, hands-on workshop led by author Chris Tebbetts will focus on story beginnings. How much does your reader need to know in the first chapter? What can wait until later? How do we create strong hooks to make that next page turn irresistible to our readers? With a focus on character, conflict, and setting, this workshop will set you up to begin your next project with more confidence, or edit that work in progress efficiently and effectively. No experience required, but do come prepared to write!

Knitting Club

Mondays (11/6, 11/13, 11/20, 11/27): 12:00pm-1:00pm

Join other knitters at the Pierson Library in our lovely community living room to talk, gather, and knit with others.

Tech Tuesday

Tuesday, November 7: 1:00pm-2:00pm

Got burning tech questions? Bring them to us! Our expert tech teacher is here to provide you with personalized solutions and answers, whether it's a smartphone, tablet, laptop, or any other device. Don't miss out on the chance to demystify technology and unlock its full potential. Drop by, and let's conquer your tech challenges together. No advance registration necessary.

Lost Sons of Omaha: Two Young Men in an American tragedy

Wednesday, November 8: 6:30-7:30pm

Join us for a special evening with Joe Sexton, the author of 'Lost Sons of Omaha: Two Young Men in an American Tragedy,' as he delves into the events following George Floyd's murder and the tragic stories of two young men. Hosted by The Flying Pig and the Pierson Library, this discussion offers a unique opportunity to connect with the author and explore the themes of his book.

Second Thursday Lectures - Shelburne Stories: A Pictorial History

Thursday, November 9: 6:30pm-7:30pm

Join us for an engaging historical journey with 'Shelburne Stories.' Explore a new online resource, 'The Shelburne Historical Society HUB,' designed to provide fresh perspectives on Shelburne's history. In this program, we'll embark on a detective story, uncovering the history of a lost farm, and introduce you to this newly launched pictorial website. This event marks the beginning of a series of stories that shed light on how Shelburne evolved into the vibrant home and community it is today.

Shelburne Acoustic Jam

Thursday, November 16: 6:30pm-7:30pm

What could be better than a free evening of singing and music? Please come join like-minded musicians and music listeners for an evening of bluegrass, country, and folk music played by local musicians. This activity is free for all - bring your instrument if you want to play. Please email mhibben@shelburnevt.org or rmose1948@gmail.com with any questions or to RSVP.

MotherCircle

Friday, November 17: 10:30am-11:30am

Join a new support group for new and expecting mothers to explore the wonders and demands of being a parent hosted by Sa Budnitz, O.T. In the group you'll discover powerful tools to support the journey of motherhood, find your voices, and make friends!

Tuesday Night Book Club

Tuesday, November 21: 7:00pm-8:00pm

This month, the Tuesday night book group is reading The Vanishing Half by Brit Bennett. Copies of the book will be available at the second-floor reference desk.
